

Sheila Moravati

<https://silosolo.com/142001>

Summary

Crayon Collection is an organization that collects unused crayons from restaurants and donates them to schools in need. They have saved over 14 million crayons and served over 45,000 kids in all 50 states and nine countries. Crayon Collection also provides free art education programming to schools. They challenge local artists to create project ideas using the saved crayons, and all of their projects are standards-based. Crayon Collection also organizes events to teach kids about the importance of recycling and giving back. People can get involved by visiting the Crayon Collection website and finding schools in their area that need crayons. They can also participate in the color kindness programs and generate crayons in their own schools. Crayon Collection is dedicated to thinking outside the box to find new solutions for education.

Silo sample questions

- What is Crayon Collection?
- How many crayons have they saved and how many kids have they served?
- What does Crayon Collection provide to schools?
- How do they come up with project ideas for the art education programming?
- Are the projects standards-based?

Topics

Crayon Collection

Donating crayons to schools

Art education programming

Challenging traditional education system

Teaching kids about recycling and giving back

Key Takeaways

- Crayon Collection is an organization that collects unused crayons from restaurants and donates them to schools in need.
- They have saved over 14 million crayons and served over 45,000 kids in all 50 states and nine countries.
- Crayon Collection also provides free art education programming to schools.
- They challenge local artists to create project ideas using the saved crayons.
- All of their projects are standards-based and free for the schools they serve.

Click here for the full transcript

Click here for the source